QUESTION 10:

Critical Race Theory is defined by Education Week as "an academic concept with the core idea that race is a social construct, and that racism is not merely the product of individual bias or prejudice, but also something embedded in legal systems and policies." The theory also says that "racism is part of everyday life, so people - white or nonwhite - who don't intend to be racist can nevertheless make choices that fuel racism."

Knowing this, do you have a more positive or negative view of Critical Race Theory? And is that MUCH more positive/negative, or just SOMEWHAT?

QUESTION 10:

Critical Race Theory is defined by Education Week as "an academic concept with the core idea that race is a social construct, and that racism is not merely the product of individual bias or prejudice, but also something embedded in legal systems and policies." The theory also says that "racism is part of everyday life, so people - white or nonwhite - who don't intend to be racist can nevertheless make choices that fuel racism."

Knowing this, do you have a more positive or negative view of Critical Race Theory? And is that MUCH more positive/negative, or just SOMEWHAT?

QUESTION 12:

Ibram X. Kendi is one of Critical Race Theory's leading advocates. He is a bestselling author whose materials are widely used in CRT instruction. Kendi states "The only remedy to past discrimination is present discrimination. The only remedy to present discrimination is future discrimination."

Knowing this, are you more or less likely to support Critical Race Theory instruction in school? And is that MUCH more/less likely, or just SOMEWHAT?

QUESTION 17:

In October, the NAEP, also known as the Nation's Report Card, released its most recent data which showed that for the first time in the almost 50-year history of the test, math and reading test scores declined. It also showed that lower-performing students today are struggling more than lower-performing students did nearly a decade ago. The assessment was administered during the 2019-2020 school year before the COVID-19 pandemic. Knowing this, are you more or less concerned with the academic education children are receiving?
